REBATE INFORMATION

Many Private Health Insurers in Australia provide a rebate to customers who purchase a Medi-Rent CTC-7 Garment as they are considered a medical compression garment. Please note that as part of your compression device rental, the garment is purchased and yours to keep.

Your compression garment may be claimable under one of the following categories: 'Aids and Appliances, Orthoses, Splints, Compression, Medical and Surgical Garments'. The ongoing rental of the device is unlikely to be claimed through medical insurance due to the non-purchased nature.

Please note your level of cover may affect the amount covered as not all Private Health Insurers offer rebates.*

INTENDED PURPOSE

The CTC-7 garments are single-patient purchased garments to be used with the CTC-7 - Compression unit, intermittent device (ARTG Listed – 339512). When attached to the device, the garments enable delivery of intermittent pneumatic compression and delivery of thermal therapy. The CTC-7 system is intended to be used for acute injury, post-operatively or post-trauma to reduce swelling and pain.
